

A top-down view of a metal baking tray lined with parchment paper, filled with several golden-brown chocolate chip cookies. The cookies are studded with dark chocolate chips. Some chocolate chips are scattered on the parchment paper and the white wooden surface around the tray. In the top left corner, there is a small white bowl filled with more chocolate chips. The background is a white wooden surface with a grey and white striped cloth partially visible on the left.

Oodles of cookies

omg

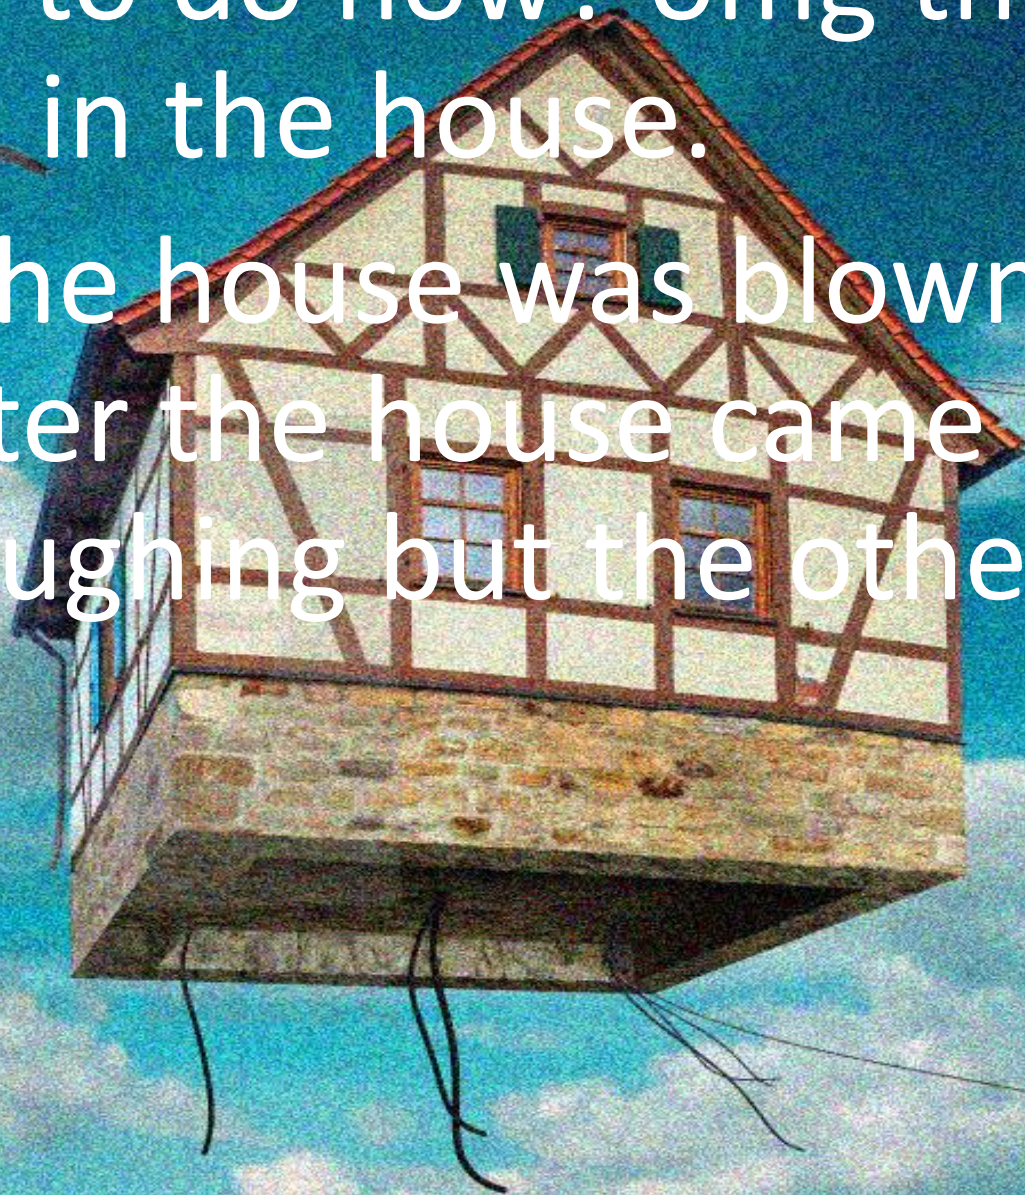

• One day Gerasimina wanted to make a cookie in the oven. But she didn't remember that the oven was broken. One hour later she checked the oven and she saw the oven full of cookies and she said...

- Oh. No! What I have to do now? omg the cookie is going round in the house.
- Then she went out .The house was blown up in the air. Two hours later the house came back. Some people were laughing but the other half scared.

- From the inside it was burnt. When Gerasimina entered inside the house, the oven was on fire. Then she called the fire service. Until the fire brigade come, the oven shone and the magician came out from inside. Everyone was clapping.

