

Oodles of watermelons

It was a big farm that had animals and watermelons, but this farm was different, because the watermelons were weird. They had the shapes of a heart, a block & a triangle. They were really long & big watermelons. This farm was famous because of the shapes of the melons.

The farmer was so lucky, because of their exotic shape. He had a lot of customers. But then one time the watermelons started to get stolen from the farm. He noticed that every day they went missing in double digit numbers.

The farmer informed the police about this and he also prepared himself by having several german sherpherd dogs to take care of the farm. Alerting him to any potential thieves that would enter the farm to steal the exotic watermelons.

Several days later, the thieves came back to steal from the farm. But they weren't prepared for the german sherpherd dogs that chased them down and away from the farm. The farmer becoming aware of the situation, immediately called the police.

The policemen came to the farm in a matter of minutes. After several hours of trying to find the thieves, in a manhunt. They captured them and they took them to the police station . From that day the farmer was happy again.

J.I.

St1